IELA – The group that looks
after you worldwide.

Current developments show why it is important to have a trusted partner who knows how to act if not everything goes according to plan. In the face of unpredictable consequences, a strong network is more important than ever before.

Talk to your IELA member when your show is affected by postponements or cancellations. You can count on us! The association is supporting its members with its combined strengths and working together to diminish the negative economic impacts for exhibitors and organisers.

Our industry has successfully dealt with challenges in the past.
Together we will weather this storm too.
